Benchmark

2022

Hi everyone,

Airlines have been a key travel insurance distributor since the early 2000s, basically since they sell their ticket online, yet there is still a lot of untapped potential!

So many partnerships are not optimised and don't follow best practices tested over the last 20 years...

In order to help insurers deliver better value to their airlines partners, in 2021 we released the first Global Airlines Travel Insurance Benchmark. Without exaggeration we did receive excellent feedback (by our standard), where multiple airlines and insurers reached out to speak to us.

So here we go again. After spending 3 months researching on 156 airlines and 45 insurers travel insurance partnerships, we are happy to share the 2022 Ancileo Global Airlines Travel Insurance Benchmark.*

Hopefully this research will help all players with their travel insurance partnerships.

Cheers,

Olivier Michel

*We've taken great care to present correct, precise information in this 160+ slide presentation. If you spot any mistakes or inaccuracies, just email me and we will gladly correct it!

Methodology

- The study was done internally via intensive research on travel insurance from each official airline's website.
- Data gathering took place from April to November 2022.
- In-path travel insurance screenshots are obtained by going through the flight simulation on official airline websites.
- All web traffic information was obtained from Similarweb, a market intelligence platform.
- The China airline market was excluded from the report due to lack of access to website traffic data and the need for a different identification system to run a comprehensive benchmark.

It is not because one insurer has a lot of airline partnerships that it automatically translates to high GWP. Partnership performance depends very much on the airline web traffic, conversion rate, average premium and number of markets deployed. Interesting to note that Cover Genius is rising and competing head-to-head with global insurers.

Most travel insurance in-path are placed on the Add-Ons and Payment pages

Olivier Michel
CEO & Founder

To be consistent (or limited by their tech), airlines tend to add travel insurance in their ancillary add-on section, where it is mixed with numbers of other ancillary services. Based on our experience that's a mistake: indeed placing the travel insurance integration on the Payment page drives the highest conversion.

Most airlines offer just 1 plan for in-path travel insurance integration

Olivier Michel

While it makes sense not to confuse travellers with multiple offers, offering 2 plans with substantial benefits and pricing differences will increase conversion rate. For example, you could offer a comprehensive travel insurance (avg premium USD50) and simple cancellation product (avg premium USD15).

- Image: A large illustration of a businessman in a suit running with a briefcase, set against a city skyline with a Ferris wheel.
- Live Numbers: A box showing a person icon and the text "6,480 people protected their trip in the last 7 days".
- Key Benefits: A list of three items, each with a green checkmark:
  - Medical expenses abroad up to $250,000
  - Interruption of stay up to $1500
  - Loss of baggage and personal belongings up to $3000
- Policy Details: A link "View full policy details".
- Protection Option: A box with a radio button selected, the text "Add Protection", and a price of "$4/day $30". A green "RECOMMENDED" tag is present.
- Decline Option: A box with a radio button unselected and the text "I choose not to protect my purchase. I understand that declining my coverage I am responsible for all non refundable expenses for all passengers".
- COVID Disclaimer: A box with an information icon and the text "COVID: More about coverage, limitations and exclusions". Below it, a paragraph of fine print: "Consider the Policy Brochure and wording before deciding to buy this product. Terms, conditions, exclusions, limits and sub-limits (incl. For pre-existing conditions) apply. Plan & Pricing details. Coverage alerts."

At the bottom, there are three buttons: "Back", "Added" (with a green checkmark), and "Continue".

Michael Storzhev

General Manager, Strategic Underwriting AUNZ & Head of Global Insurance Products and Underwriting

Our product design approach has been to treat mental health conditions just like any other health condition a customer may have. Early on, insurers required psychiatrists to document and diagnose any anxiety, depression or mental illness before claims were approved. This customer experience was complicated, and in the last five years, we've seen the industry moving away from such requirements.

Better safe than sorry!

With a travel insurance, you are optimally covered before and during your trip. You can choose between cancellation costs insurance (assumption of costs in the event of cancellation before departure) and the entire travel protection package (insurance also during the trip), including coverage if you have to seek medical treatment or quarantine (delayed return trip) on site due to illness. The insurance conditions of our partner Allianz are authoritative. You can find a complete overview of the services here.

Select the desired insurance package.

Travel the world without worries

Our partner Allianz Travel has expanded its insurance policies with coverage for epidemics and pandemics. Their policy includes cover for you or your travel companion when at least one of you is diagnosed with COVID-19 before or during your trip. It also provides coverage if at least one of you needs to self-quarantine before your trip. Keep in mind that insurance coverage is excluded if you travel against the advice of local authorities or travel to a high-risk destination. Please refer to the terms and conditions for an explanation of the coverages.

Travel Insurance for Visitors to Japan (included in travel costs)

In order to provide reassurance and help our customers enjoy their trip, JAL Flight & Hotel products include travel insurance for visitors to Japan, providing support for hospital arrangements/referrals if you are injured or fall ill during your stay in Japan.

Support provided

The following support is provided for customers during their stay in Japan.

- Insurance coverage period
The cost of treatment provided by a doctor for illness or injury during your stay in Japan (between entering and leaving Japan) is covered.
- Upper limit of treatment costs
Coverage is provided for the actual costs incurred, up to the maximum limit of the insurance (10 million yen).
- Treatment can be provided on a cashless basis.
Contact our 24-hour call center and we will arrange treatment at a nearby medical facility, allowing you to receive treatment without having to pay the facility yourself.
(Not available in all circumstances. If unavailable, please pay the facility for treatment, and then request the insurance reimbursement via our dedicated insurance claims website upon returning to your home country).

If you are injured or fall ill while traveling, please contact the Insurance Claim Call Center prior to receiving medical treatment in Japan.

Insurance will only cover expenses paid to medical institutions in Japan. Expenses other than those paid to medical institutions in Japan, for example any incurred after you return home, are not eligible for insurance claim payments.
Also, please be aware that expenses for treatment undertaken after leaving Japan are not eligible for insurance payments, even if you started treatment at a medical institution in Japan.
